PUT REST OF RATES INTO THE TAX BILL

Senate Democrats Get Busy As the Session-Long Battle Nears End—Why the Democrats Feel Strong At Present

DEFEAT OF MELLON RATES

Mellon Surtaxes Replaced By the Democratic 40-Percent Maximum — Indications Are That Democrats Can Now Safely Hold Their Margin

Washington, May 6.—Senate Democrats proceeded to put the rest of their rates into the tax bill today as the session-long battle neared an end.

Their emphatic defeat of the Mellon income rates made the Democrats feel strong enough to put their sliding scale tax on corporations and their inheritance levy into the measure.

The Mellon surtaxes were replaced by the Democratic 40-percent maximum by a vote of 43 to 40 late yesterday, the three vote margin revealed exclusively in the United Press poll of the Senate. The normal rates of 2, 4, and 6 percent were adopted over the Mellon rates by a vote of 44 to 37

Indications are that the Democrats can now safely hold their margin for the only remaining points to be distance rates.

All sides now are confident that the bill will finally be gotten out of the way before Saturday and sent to conference. Night sessions begin tonight and will continue until adjournment is taken the first of next month.

Here is how the Democratic income rates now in the bill compared with the Mellon proposals and the Longworth rates adopted by the House:

Income	Senate	Mellon	House
Less than $4,000	2 pc.	3 pc.	2 pc.
$4,000 . . .	4 pc.	6 pc.	5 pc.
Over $8,000.....	6 pc.	6 pc.	6 pc.

The Senate plan graduates up to 40 percent on $500,000; the Mellon plan to 25 percent on $100,000 and over; the House to 37½ percent on $200,000 and over.

IS FINED FOR CARRYING A CONCEALED WEAPON

Grover Williams, the Allenport colored man, who was arrested on suspicion of being one of the twain who robbed Mrs. Painter at Monongahela, of $195 could not be identified by Mrs. Painter. We understand that Williams was fined for carrying concealed weapons, however, as he had a revolver on his person when arrested.

Williams' white companion left forfeit for his appearance and failed to show up at the appointed time for the hearing.

DEATHS ARE DUE TO ACCIDENTS

Verdicts of accidental deaths have been returned by coroner's juries in two recent accident deaths in this county. In the case of Mrs. Helen Thomas, of Washington, who died in the Washington hospital, April 27, as a result of injuries received the night previous, when struck in Jefferson avenue by a car driven by Earl Crosson, of Houston, the jury found the accident to have been unpreventable and exonerated the driver from all blame. After striking the woman, who became confused and stepped in front of the car, Crosson rushed her to the hospital.

The death of J. E. Coatsworth, who was killed by a fall down the elevator shaft of the California Furniture and Hardware company store at California, on Friday, May 2, a verdict of accidental death was returned.

MARYLAND TO BE SOLID FOR COOLIDGE

Baltimore, May 6.—Calvin Coolidge will have the solid vote of Maryland in the Republican national convention at Cleveland.

Only a light vote was cast in the state while about 2,000 were cast for an uninstructed delegation. In Baltimore Coolidge was given 4,018 votes while advocates of an uninstructed delegation numbered only 530.

Slightly incomplete returns show that Congressman Frederick N. Zihlman, who recently was the subject of an investigation by congress will again be the nominee of the Republicans in the sixth congressional district.

The Very Reverend Michael J. Ripple, O. P. P. G, National Director of the society. It read in part:

In connection with the coming national convention of the Holy Name Society of the United States, to be held at Washington, Sept. 18 to 21, I would be glad if you would make it known to the Holy Name societies of the country that I extend to them a sincere invitation to come to the capital city of the Nation. And you can say for me that no body of men ever received a more warm-hearted welcome than the Holy Name men will receive when they come to celebrate the 650th anniversary of the founding of the Holy Name Society."

THIS PIECE IS LONG THRILL

"The Fighting Coward," produced by the man who made "The Covered Wagon," James Cruze, and featuring Ernets Torrence Mary Astor, Noah Beery, Phyllis Haver and Cullen Landis, was shown for the first time at the Coyle Theatre last night.

Its a story of a man and a young fellow who bluff everyone along the Mississippi, the idea being to convince folk that the youngster is about the most dangerous gun-fighter thereabouts. And the whole thing is just one long thrill.

Cruze has established for himself a reputation of being the one director today who can take a screen story, in this case an adaption by Walter Woods of the stage play, "Magnolia," by Booth Tarkington, and get out of it every possible element of humor. "The Covered Wagon," a tense western drama, as produced by Cruze had some of the finest comedy touches of anything ever made. And he's done even more with "The Fighting Coward."

You'll get a good laugh out of the scene where one of the characters engages another in a gambling game and relieves him of even his clothes.

Torrence is at his best in the character of Gen. Orlando Jackson, and Cullen Landis handles the leading man's role to perfection, while Noah Beery gives his excellent performance in a heavy role. Mary Astor and Phyllis Haver are well cast as the sisters, Elvira and Lucy.

And there's a thoroughly capable supporting cast.

FORCE MUST BE USED WITH GERMANY?

Paris, May 6.—France, if today's press correctly interprets her attitude, sees in the result of the German elections a fading out of hope for early fulfillment of the Dawes-Young plan.

The Paris morning papers declare the outcome, with the gains registered by the German Nationalist party, renders hopes of fulfillment illusory, although none expects open resistance

"Nothing will succeed against Germany except force," Pertinax, writing in the Echo de Paris, declares. He points out the difficulty of understanding where a sufficient majority will be found to carry on a government.

Le Matin forecasts that the general attitude of any new German government will be resistance to treaty obligations.

BELIEVE A NURSE KIDNAPS A CHILD

Philadelphia, May 6. — The police search for the kidnaper of Clarinda Modell, 10-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Modell, today centered upon Ida Huff, a young nurse known in police circles and who in February, 1920, was implicated in a kidnaping affair

The kidnaping of the Modell child took place late yesterday. The infant was taken from a baby coach in which she had been left in front of the home of her parents.

Following the kidnaping, a young woman answering the description of Ida Huff was seen rushing down a street carrying a baby. As a result police today scoured the city in an attempt to find her.

General Butler has issued orders that all policemen and police lieutenants in every district of the city will remain on duty until the child is found.

BAD WEATHER HOLDS UP FLYERS

Bremerton, Wash., May 6.—Hopes that America's round-the-world flight may reach Japan before the end of this week were dimmed today when radio messages from Nazan, Atka Island, (in the Aleutian group) said the flyers were held up again by bad weather.

Severe storms were roaring down out of the Behring Sea and it was doubted if the three planes still in the flight would be able to get under way.

Meantime the latest radio messages from destroyers searching for Major Martin, flight commander and his sergeant-mechanician, Alva Harvey, reported no trace of the missing airmen had been found other than word that a trapper had seen a plane winging its way toward Asia one day last week.

Teacher May Die of Burns She Received

Terribly burned when her clothes caught fire yesterday from a gas stove Mrs. Rose Dederick, of Oil City, for several years a teacher in the Langcloth schools of Burgettstown, is in an extremely critical condition in the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh.

A teacher in the first grade at Dederick was attempting to discover what was the matter with one of the youngsters of her room at the time her clothes caught fire. The child was bending over the gas stove and thinking perhaps it was ill, Mrs. Dederick hastened to its side.

As Mrs Dederick bent over to comfort and inquire of the child as to what was the matter her skirt swished into the flames and caught fire.

For a few minutes, Mrs. Dederick was unaware that her clothing had been ignited. She was almost enveloped in flames as she rushed into the principal's office where another teacher, Miss Mull, grabbed an overcoat and wrapped it about her to extinguish them.

Before the flames had been put out, practically all of Mrs. Dederick's clothing had been burned and the flesh on two-thirds of her body deeply seared.

Arrangements were made immediately and Mrs. Dederick was rushed to the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, for treatment Inquiry there late last night brought the information that her condition was very grave.

New York, May 6.—"From 10 to 20 years in prison"

Celia Cooney, who was Brooklyn's bobbed haired bandit, heard this sentence passed upon herself and her husband, Ed, by Justice Martin today.

THE DAWES-YOUNG PLAN IS FAVORED

Berlin, May 6.—The German people gave the Dawes-Young plan a narrow majority in the national elections.

Whatever the ensuing government and parliament may do, official results of Sunday's polling showed today that at least 15 million of the 29 million voters registered approval of the experts proposal.

The total vote of the Socialists, Democrats, Centrists, and Folks-partie candidates—all of whom were pledged to support the plan—was more than half of the ballots cast.

Approximately 11,000,000 votes, those for Nationalists, Folkists and Communists, oppose the Dawes-Young report.

The remaining three million votes are either mildly for or against the plan.

BURGESS EXERCISES VETO

Matter of Proposed Ordinance, Which Had Passed Final Reading Granting Privileges to the Government, Is Vetoed By the Burgess

North Charleroi Borough council met last evening with Councilmen Doerzbacher, Wildman, Plasman, Gaskill, Strausser and Wolfe present.

The minutes of previous meetings were read and approved. The regular monthly bills were also read and approved.

S. L. and Eastman Woodward presented a request for sewer connection from their plan of lots to Highland avenue, and the same was favored, and referred to the street committee for action.

The various committees filed their regular reports under the head of real estate affairs. The matter of charges for the use of the borough hall was considered, and by referring to a prior resolution adopted sometime ago a charge of $4 per session will be made hereafter.

The board of health reported encouragingly on "Clean-Up" week. The time for collecting rubbish, tincans, et cetera, from alleys abutting on all properties, has been extended until Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, in order to give all a chance to have their refuse matter properly collected. It is the desire of the health officer that this matter be properly attended and adhered to in order to save delay. Proper notice has been sent out for "Clean-Up" week, and it is to be hoped that it will be the success which the present prospects augur. In connection with "Clean-Up" week the health department will be favored with assistance on the part of members of the volunteer fire department in having the streets washed. Chief of the department, Lee O'Brien, was present at the session of council last night, and assured council of the co-operation of the department in this important proposition.

The borough clerk reported disbursements of $2112.46; receipts, $400.73; balance in the treasury, $2794.16. The burgess reported fines collected of $19: tax collector, $239.21; bills ordered paid, $489.85.

Local Seventh And Eighth Grades Defeat Fallowfield Township

The track and field team of the 7th and 8th grades of the Bentleyville Schools defeated Fallowfield Township track and field team at Bentleyville Friday. Fallowfield showed wonderful form and made it difficult for Bentleyville to win. The score will give you an idea how hard fought the meet really was, the score being 49 to 48. Cicci of Fallowfield starred for the Bentleyville. Several records were broken. Cristina broke the running broad jump record when he jumped 17 feet, 8 inches. A jump of 15 feet took first place last year at the meet. Hinebaugh broke the high jump record when he jumped 4 feet, 8 inches. Davlik made a new record for the half-mile when he run it in 2 minutes and 31 seconds.

Now that Bentleyville has won two legs on the trophy they only need one more to keep it. Although there will be some change in the team next year we hope that the 1925 team will win. This years team has worked hard and needs to be complimented on their work. Everbody worked hard.

PITTSBURGH MEETS CHICAGO TODAY IN FIRST OF 3 GAMES

Pittsburgh meets Chicago today in three game series at Forbes Field. The Piartes did not play yesterday. They have met the Cubs this season, and the teams seem to be pretty evenly matched, inasmuch as they have broken even to date.

The Cubs make their appearance at Forbes Field today minus the services of Hollocher, and are thus weakened in their infield. But they are a scrappy bunch, and ever play their best. They are not a championship contender, but promise to make plenty of trouble for the pennant contenders.

INTEREST IN THE COMING FIELD MEET IS HIGH

As a result of the decisive victory won by Charleroi High school in the Triangular Field meet held Saturday, with California and Monessen High schools as their opponents, the interest in the annual Washington County Track and Field meet is running high.

Coach Stepanian has perhaps the best balanced team that has represented the local school for several seasons. In Wagner, Bly, and Crabb, he has three boys that will make a good showing in their respective class. Puckhobb in the mile looks like a comer. Loughead should place in the pole vault and the relay team will make things interesting for the schools entered in Class 1. Crytzer, Johns and Russell Hill, Shepard, Anthony, Morgan and Torbert make up the balance of the team that should make a fine showing in the finals on Saturday next.

The meet will be started Friday morning with the elimination in the field events of all three classes of schools. The girls will also compete on Friday. On Saturday afternoon the semi-finals and finals will be run off in all classes. Charleroi's girls team will be strong contenders for the cup this year. The county athletic council voted to give the girls' team winning the highest number of points a silver loving cup. Heretofore nothing but medals have been awarded to the girls.

The entry lists will be made public later in the week. A large number of students and fans have signified their intention of witnessing the meet. The admission charge, fifty cents will admit on both days. John B. Craighead will serve as referee.

Counting by Tens.

Our system of counting by tens started ages ago when men counted on their fingers. Because they had ten fingers, a numbering on their hands made a unit of counting, and that was the beginning of the decimal system. A count on their fingers and toes resulted in twenty and thus the checking off of things by scores began.

All Set For Washington County Meet

Athletes, both boy and girl, of the high schools of Washington county, will assemble at Washington on next Friday and Saturday afternoon for their annual track and field carnival, the competition to be staged on the athletic grounds of W. & J. College under the supervision of the Washington County Interscholastic association. The carnival always attracts between 250 and 300 boys and girls and the entry list this year promises to be larger than ever, owing to the reclassification of schools for the competition for boys.

During the two days four meets will really be conducted, three for boys and one for girls. In Class 1 boys of the high schools with an enrollment in excess of 350 will compete. Class 2 will be a meet for schools having an enrollment of from 100 to 350, and Class 3 for schools with an enrollment of 100 or less. The schools of the county are not classified for the girls, but each school is limited as to entrants. Plans for the meet call for the meet for the girls to be held on Friday morning.

On Friday afternoon the trials on both the track and field in all classes will be conducted for the boys. Semi-finals will be held on Saturday morning if necessary, while the finals in all classes will be held on Saturday afternoon. Previous to this year there were only two classes for the boys, Class 1 for all schools with an enrollment in excess of 100, and Class 2 for all schools with an enrollment under 100. Schools which will probably compete in Class 1 are Washington, Charleroi, Canonsburg, Monongahela and Donora.

Class 2 will be for such schools as California, Bentleyville, McDonald, Burgettstown, Hickory, Claysville, North Franklin-South Strabane and East Bethlehem, while Class 3 will include all the rural high schools. Among the township high schools Morris has ruled supreme for several years and is confident of winning again.

The second annual field meet for the boys and girls of the grade schools of Amwell township, conducted at Long Pine, attracted a large field, the Amity boys and girls being victorious. In the meet for boys the schools scored points as follows: Amity, 115; Lone Pine, 51; Ridge, 39½; Pershing, 32; Chambers, 26; Reese, 21½; Chestnut Ridge, 10½; Pleasant Hill, 9; Redd, 6; Horn, 1. In the girls meet the points were divided as folows: Lone Pine, 52; Amity, 40; Reese, 25; Chestnut Ridge, 20; Pleasant Hill, 18; Horn, 12; Ridge, 10; Redd, 1.

Raise Dogs for Food.

The dog meat which enters into the dietary of the Chinese is obtained from a special race, raised for the purpose, of which the characteristic is the color of the tongue. That organ should be of a blue-black color. These dogs are fed on milk and rice for about two months until they reach a certain weight. The number of edible dogs eaten annually in China is estimated at 5,000,000.

Experience.

And now, to conclude, "Experience keeps a dear school, but fools will learn in no other, and scarce in that"; for it is true "We may give advice, but we cannot give conduct," as Poor Richard says. However, remember this, "They that won't be counseled can't be helped," as Poor Richard says; and further, that, "if you will not hear reason, she'll surely rap you on the knuckles."—Franklin.

To Repair Rubber Heels.

When rubber heels have become worn off on the sides or at the backs, they may be straightened by trimming off the entire heel with a sharp knife. Of course this reduces the thickness of the rubber, but the appearance is much better and the feeling more comfortable than the worn, uneven surface.

International Expositions.

The first industrial exposition in which all nationals might participate was that held in Crystal palace, London, from May 1 to October 1, 1851. France held an exposition universelle in 1855 and in 1862 the English had their second great international exposition in London.

Succotash an Indian Word.

The Puritan writers who first described succotash as being "seethed like beanes" spelled its Indian name Sukquttahash. Both the principle of the dish and its name are borrowed from the native Indians.

Uncle Sam's Income During March Was $558,346,219.73

How would you like to draw Uncle Sam's pay check?

For the month of March, it was $558,346,219.73. Nice little income, isn't it? Uncle had a raise that month, his pay being $25,004,953.05 more than it was in March a year ago.

Everybody knows Uncle Sam's pay check comes in the form of taxes paid by people and corporations. Income taxes formed the greater part of his earnings. According to the treasury reports, it brought in $489,935,807.12.

In spite of prohibition, the income from liquor taxes aggregated $2,182,762.18 last month. However, that source of revenue if failing. It decreased $365,914.63 as compared with March, 1923.

By far the largest liquor revenue comes from distilled spirits of a non-beverage nature—at least, they're supposed to be non-beverage. The next best bet is wine.

The tobacco tax is a good income producer for Uncle Sam. It brought in $25,615,599.06 last month. Sixty per cent of that came from cigaret smokers.

Automobilists contributed $12,845,650.51 to Uncle Sam's income last month in excise taxes which the automobile manufacturers pass on to the buyers. Bootleggers contributed $6,920,912.87.

LOCK NO. 4 COUNCIL MEETS LAST NIGHT

Fifth and Sixth streets in Conrad avenue as to a sidewalk grade.

The State Highway department asked permission to place certain signs directing the public on the highway. Permission was granted.

Motion carried to have Auditors Stevenson and Clutter make a special audit of Davis Woodward's tax book for 1918, 1919, and 1920.

Burgess P. E. Franks, in his report, submitted a lengthy communication in which he vetoes a proposed ordinance that has passed third and final reading by council granting to the United States government the right and privilege to erect an overhead crane over and across Fifth street near the United States boat yard. The letter set forth in part that the government officials had not lived up to their promise granting concessions in keeping open certain streets, and by the further collecting of unsightly material and junk piles in front of the residence of the burgess in River street. The proposition was referred back to the ordinance committee with instructions to further confer with the parties that an amicable agreement may be reached.

An ordinance regulating the erection and maintenance of stables and barns for domestic animals, was read and passed first reading. The ordinance was presented by the health department at a prior meeting of council.

An ordinance regulating hucksters, peddlers, teamsters, taxis, and vendors of all kinds was read and "snowed under" by an overwhelming majority. The same, however, was referred back to the ordinance committee for correction and various changes and may appear again at a subsequent meeting in a modified form.

The bond of Tax Collector C. E. Clegg, in the sum of $8,000, was renewed for another year.

Council adjourned to meet in two weeks in special session.

Books and Nature.

Books are of pathetically little use to tell the story of nature. Few people recognize more than a dozen roadside flowers, the commonest trees and shrubs, a few kinds of birds and insects. To be able to distinguish the call notes of birds seems to most persons a miraculous gift. The few who know enough of nature to be guides for a few hours' walk have knowledge that many others deeply long for and that they would pay handsomely to get.—Youth's Companion.

Short glides in the air were made as early as the reign of King Harold of England by a monk named Elmer, who, after several successful flights, jumped from a lofty tower with wings strapped to his body. THE CASE OF McCRAY

The story is told of two boys who swiped unguarded umbrellas with a serene conviction of innocence of wrong doing based on the theory that "everybody does it," the suggestion being offered in explanation of their view that they had read in a newspaper that "umbrellas are common property" and accepted the well-worn jest as a literal statement of fact. One is almost inclined to wonder if ex-Governor McCray of Indiana was similarly infantile in his mental processes, and if, after the disclosures of corruption at Washington, the psychology of a self-satisfied thief was further stimulated by the conviction that "they all do it." Certainly no ready-fingered pickpocket was ever more brazen or cheerfully self-exculpatory than this governor of a great state, for the accounts indicate that he readily and regularly despoiled and defrauded with as much disregard of consequences as if law and the rights of others.

He is said to have amassed a million dollars from the sale of worthless cattle notes. He forged hundreds of names and committed an amazing series of premeditated crimes. The Judge presiding at the trial declared he had "never seen so many felonies committed by one individual." It might have been added that there was no parallel for such effrontery and recklessness, for McCray kept it up until a mass of indictments had been returned against him by Federal and local Grand Juries and refused to resign as Governor until the court was ready to sentence him to ten years in a Federal prison. To the last he showed no sense of shame or regard for decency, continually thrusting himself forward on social and official occasions as the highest representative of his State. Nor was his moral obliquity and cheerful criminality anything new, for he is said to have risen to power and influence in the Republican organization of Indiana by the liberal use of money, with which, as a wealthy farmer and banker, he was plentifully supplied.

American governors have been impeached and removed from office in a few instances, Sulzer of New York and Walton of Oklahoma being readily recalled. More rarely as in the case of Small of Illinois, a governor has been brought to book for criminal doings. But for long persistence in criminality backed by brazen effrontery, McCray may be said to stand alone. How could such a man rise to place and power in the politics of any American community? The "liberal use of money" is not a sufficient explanation by itself. Inattention and neglect of public duty on the part of the better element of the people are obviously involved, as well as a blind and heedless partisanship in favor of any one bearing the chosen party's name. For thousands of good people in Indiana, absorbed in their daily business, it was enough that McCray—though criticized and attacked—was a Republican.

History of Tarpeian Rock.

Tarpeian rock is a precipice on the south side of the Capitoline hill at Rome, from which state criminals sentenced to death were thrown headlong. It received its name from Tarpeia, a vestal virgin and daughter of Spurius Tarpeius, governor of the citadel, who agreed to open the gates to the Sabines—then at war with the Romans—on condition of receiving from them what they wore on their arms (meaning their bracelets). She was rewarded for her treachery by being crushed to death by the weight of the shields cast upon her by the soldiers, who shouted as they hastened on: "These are the ornaments we wear on our arms." According to legend, Tarpeia ever sits in the heart of the rock, adorned with gold and jewels and bound by a spell.

Yankee Sailors Led World.

A foremast hand on a Yankee East Indiaman was the best paid, best fed, and most competent sailor in the world, regarded by coasters, fishermen, whalers and man-o'-war's-men as the top dog of his profession, according to the "Maritime History of Massachusetts." A Yankee shipmaster, in 1840, was the world's standard in ability and in conduct. The Massachusetts merchant marine was commanded for the most part by men of high character and education; navigators who could work lunars as well as Bowditch himself, and who inherited all the practical seamanship of the old school; "merchant-captains" who owned part of their vessel, and had full responsibility in trading.

Daniel Webster.

Not many days ago I saw at breakfast the notablest of all your Notabilities, Daniel Webster. He is a magnificent specimen; you might say to all the world, This is your Yankee Englishman, such Limbs we make in Yankeeland! As a Logic-fencer, Advocate, or Parliamentary Hercules, one would incline to back him at first sight against all the extant world. The tanned complexion, that amorphous crag-like face; the dull black eyes under their precipice of brows, like dull anthracite furnaces, needing only to be blown; the mastiff-mouth, accurately closed:—I have not traced as much of silent Berserkor-rage, that I remember of, in any other man.—Carlyle.

Ford's Theater.

Ford's theater in Washington was famous as the scene of the assassination of President Lincoln April 14, 1865. After that tragic event it was closed by order of the United States government. In the following year the building was purchased by congress for $100,000, and converted into the army medical museum. This collection of curiosities was removed in August, 1887, to a structure specially erected for it, and the Ford's theater building was given over to the pension and record bureau of the War department. On June 9, 1893, the building partially collapsed, causing considerable loss of life.

Why Planets Don't Crash.

Imagine an orange on the top of the Eiffel tower and eight small specks from the size of a caraway seed to that of a pea rotating about it at distances of from ten to a thousand feet—the height of the tower itself—says Robert A. Millikan in Scribner's. Little wonder that with this immense ratio of empty space to volume occupied by matter, the planets scarcely exert appreciable influences upon one another, much less are in danger of colliding. If we tried to represent Neptune's orbit by a circle of diameter equal to the width of this page, the sun itself would be the smallest visible speck at the center and none of the planets could be seen at all.

German Order of Iron Cross.

The Iron Cross is a Prussian order of knighthood instituted by Frederick William III of Prussia March 10, 1813, as a reward for bravery during the "War of Liberation" against France. The decoration is a Maltese cross of iron, edged with silver, and worn either around the neck or in the buttonhole. This order was revived by William I, king of Prussia, July 19, 1870, on the eve of the Franco-German war, and was bestowed by him on his son, the crown prince, for his victory of Wissembourg.

Fragrant Musk Plant Is Losing Its Scent

Why has the fragrant musk lost its scent? This is the question which many English florists and gardeners have been asking and wondering for 30 years. Formerly this little flower was among the most fragrant in the botanical records. It was originally found by David Douglas in 1826 growing on the margins of the Columbia river, and was exported to various parts of the world from there. When discovered it was sweetly scented. In 1877 the musk was hybridized in England, and although much larger flowers were produced by this artificial method of culture, the flower was often devoid of fragrance. One theory is that the loss of scent dates from this time.

Only in one instance has an odor been recently ascribed to the English musk, and that was in 1917, when the earl of Waldegrave sent a few rare specimens to the Royal Horticultural society in London. Although only seven years have elapsed since the earl made his report, the same plants, unmolested and untransplanted, have already lost their scent.

In addition to the hybridization theory of the loss of the musk's fragrance other ideas have been advanced to account for the discrepancy. One is that the human sense of smell is no longer so acute as formerly and cannot register the flower's odor. Another theory is that the plants of the musk 50 years ago were very hairy, but after transplantation in alien countries the hairs were lost and with them the scent.

The idea most endorsed by the English botanists, however, is that essential oils, conducing to the flower's fragrance, have been lost in the process of acclimatization.

Old French Wedding Custom Is Revived

An odd old custom was revived last October in the Flemish village of Comines, tucked away in the north of France.

About 1454 the Seigneur Jean de Comines, having been imprisoned after the good old custom by a neighboring prince, managed to reveal his whereabouts by throwing the wooden utensils given him for table use out of the dungeon where he was confined.

When his faithful subjects came to rescue him, he established a fair at which the ceremonial of throwing these "louches"—as the country people still call them—among the crowd was always carried out.

But after a few hundred years of throwing louches the people of Comines got tired of it, and the custom was abandoned. This year, however, some enterprising member of the Comines Rotary club thought it high time to disinter the old tradition, and the white bearded father of the municipalite solemnly mounted a platform guarded by two huge and grinning wooden dolls, and hurled the wooden louches into the assembled throng.

Not everyone in the crowd escaped injury, but, according to a French account, "You could see people boasting of the fact that they carried on their heads the marks of the blows received in this rough distribution."—Living Age.

Employment Aids Ignored

Juvenile unemployment centers, established in England by the co-operation of the ministeries of education and labor to assist and protect school boys and girls between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, seeking work, have not been entirely successful in Middlesex, England. The object was to enable the youths to better themselves while accepting the "dole" and were compelled to attend classes. The "dole" is the government unemployment stipend, but many of the younger generation, especially the girls, surrendered the "dole" rather than attend classes.

Everything Provided

An old Highland clergyman was lecturing a group of his people in the village hall, and again and again repeated the words: "There will be weeping, wailing, and gnashing of teeth."

A would-be wit at the back of the hall called out: "What about those that have nae teeth?"

The minister looked down over his glasses and said with great solemnity and complete conviction: "Teeth will be provided."

The Diva

The poster advertised the world's greatest diva and depicted a very corpulent lady. Members of a crowd assembled were discussing it.

"Queer spelling," ventured one. "Don't they mean diver?"

"I don't think so," declared another. "It is evidently a foreign word for something or other. She's too fat for a diver."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mongols Were Suspicious

It took some persuasion to convince the Mongolian government that the purposes of the Andrews third Asiatic expedition were purely scientific. An elaborate expedition of 26 men, 15 camels and motor cars was not believed to be looking for old bones. A quest for gold and oil was thought more likely.

Embarrassing Prize

Curate—We are getting up a raffle, Lady Mary, for a poor old fisherman. Would you like a ticket?

Lady Mary—Rather! But do tell me, what does one do with him if one wins him?

A Queer Creature.

One of the queerest creatures imaginable is the midwife toad. The female lays her eggs in long streamers, which the male collects and wraps around his legs. He carries them about in this way until they hatch into tadpoles.

Eton College.

This famous educational institution at Eton, England, was founded by Henry IV (1422-1461) in 1440, under the title of "The College of the Blessed Mary of Eton Beside Windsor." The pupils consist of king's scholars, or collegers who enter college between twelve and fourteen years of age. Until 1851, the education was purely classical, but in that year mathematics was admitted into the curriculum, and in 1869 physical science was added to the course of study. Eton has been, for generations, the favorite school for the sons of the nobility and gentry of England. Among the famous men that have studied at Eton may be named Horace Walpole, Bolingbroke, Porson, Hallam, Gray the poet, Shelley, Wellington, Canning, Fox, Gladstone, Lord Salisbury and Sir John Lubbock.

The Corso.

The name Corso is given the principal thoroughfare of Rome, about a mile in length, extending from the Porta del Popolo to the foot of the Capitoline hill. It is lined with shops, palaces and private houses, and is the scene of the festivities of the carnival, which is annually celebrated at Rome, just before the beginning of Lent. Races of riderless horses along the crowded Corso form one of the principal events of the celebration; while the throwing of flowers and confections from the windows and balconies upon the occupants of carriages in the street below adds much to the merriment of the occasion.

Homeric Verse.

The name Homeric verse is sometimes given to hexameter verse—the spic or heroic verse of the Greeks and Romans—because it was adopted by Homer in his two great poems, the Iliad and Odyssey. Hexameter verse, as its name implies, consists of six feet, the first four of which may be either dactyls or spondees, while the fifth must regularly be a dactyl and the sixth a spondee. When, however, the fifth foot is a spondee, the verse is said to be spondaic. A spondee consists of two long syllables, and a dactyl of one long syllable and two short ones. Virgil's Aeneid also is written in hexameter verse.

Culpable Parents.

Charge the growing up unfit to the parent who breaks the spirit of the child, or cuddles it into egotism and temperamental nervous bankruptcy and lies to it and gives it the deadly homemade examples of violent quarreling, lie-a-bed laziness and whining. I have raised Airedale terriers. Anybody will admit an airedale terrier is not the sensitive organism a child is, and anybody who has raised good Airedales knows that one would ruin a litter by the cruelties under the name of discipline or the petting under the name of devotion which are dealt out to human offspring.—Saturday Evening Post.

The Channel Islands.

The name Channel islands is applied to a group of small islands in the English channel, lying off the northwest coast of France. Their total area is about 75 square miles, and their population numbers about 100,000. The principal islands are Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney and Sark. Jersey, Alderney and Guernsey are famous for their cattle. The "Channel islands" were anciently an appanage of the duchy of Normandy, and have belonged to England since the Conquest. The inhabitants still speak the old Norman-French language.

Henri Agueseau.

If anyone is inclined to depreciate the importance of a few minutes a day devoted to some task or hobby, let him consider the case of Henri Agueseau, the great French jurist and statesman (1668-1751). Mme. Agueseau had the blameworthy habit of keeping her husband waiting every evening about fifteen minutes after the dinner bell rang. Agueseau utilized this quarter of an hour each day to write a work on jurisprudence, which he brought out, after some years, in four large quarto volumes.

Exploding Cornstalks.

Cornstalks being hollow, having no pith, and being divided inside every few inches into sections, are very combustible when dried in the sun, and the air confined within the hollow sections warmed by the external heat explodes with very considerable force, so that a canebrake on fire gives the idea of a continued roar of distant musketry.

Flatfish.

When the young flatfish hatches, its eyes are on the right and left sides of its head, as in ordinary fishes, but as development proceeds one eye migrates to the opposite side, so that in the adult both eyes are on the same side of the head, says J. V. Leech, in Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

Thistles Edible.

In Scotland, despite the "Wha daur meddle wi' me?" motto, the national emblem is often devoured by hungry youths. The thistle head, having been cut off, is shorn of its down, and the center eaten like cheese, which it somewhat resembles in taste and consistency.

Saving of Breath.

Wiseman—"To look at that Englishman you'd think he was a tramp, wouldn't you?" Jokely—"Well, I know for a fact that he hasn't a place that he can call home." Wiseman—"Nonsense! why his mansion in London is"—Jokely—"Sumptuous, yes; but he calls it 'home.'"—Catholic Standard Times.

Too Young to Judge.

In early youth, when the judgment is weak, every one selects the kind of life which he prefers. Therefore he is fixed in a certain definite course before he is able to judge what is best for him.

Prominent Sharon Druggist Gives Expert Testimony

Tells of Actual Results Patrons Have Received, and of Their Statements to Him

RECOMMENDATION IS UNQUALIFIED

Declares Sulac To Be a Splendid Remedy for Stomach, Liver and Blood Troubles.

Other Druggists Over Wide Territory Are Having Similar Experience With This Remarkable New Remedy

Druggists in every section of Pennsylvania who know Myer Collins, prominent Sharon druggist, will be interested in the experience he has been having with a new remedy for stomach and kindred troubles. Druggists, naturally are skeptical when asked to order a new medicine. They are used to having salesmen tell them that their medicine is the best in the world. So when they find that a medicien is all and more than was claimed for it they are both surprised and delighted.

Mr. Collins very frankly says that when he was asked to place a trial order for Sulac he thought it was just an ordinary medicine. The one thing that made it stand out was its record of sales in otehr. So like the progressive but careful business man that he is he ordered a comparitively small quantity. Somewhat to his surprise the people who bought the first of it came back for more. By the time they had taken two or three bottles they commenced telling him of the good it was doing them. This started him to investigating, and he has written the manufacturers the following statement:

"About two months ago I took the agency for Sulac, and I must say that it is a splendid remedy for Stomach Liver and Blood complaints.

"Nearly every day people come into the store asking for a good remedy for the above complaints, and I always recommend Sulac to them. I find that the results are remarkable, and that the people who have tried it recommend it to their friends.

"Personally, I have found it to be a product of real merit, and am glad to recommend it.

(Signed) Collins Drug Store.

When food doesn't digest and lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, generating foul gases, bad breath, and a bloated short-winded condition, it is no wonder you get no good from the food you eat, or that you grow pale irritable, sleepless and headachy. Constipation, heart-burn, loss of appetite, restlessness, stomach catarrh, gastritis, and acute indigestion, and even more serious complications arise eventually if neglected. It is for these distressing complaints that Sulac is especially recommended, and if you will give it a fair trial you will find that it is all that is claimed for it. In fact if you take six bottles and are not satisfied with the results your druggist is authorized by the manufacturers to refund your money. Sulac is sold in Charleroi by Henning's Drug Store.

Standard Gauge.

The old coal pit tramways of about 100 years ago for which George Stevenson built his first "locomotive engines" had four feet eight and one-half-inch gauge, and that is still the standard.

Don't Cross Nature.

In all that we do we should avoid going contrary to nature. Every man should study his own character and constitute himself a keen judge of his own merits and demerits.

Jimson Weed an Anesthetic.

In prehistoric times, Zunis and other tribes of North American Indians used a substance obtained from the jimson weed as an anesthetic during surgical operations.

Why Greek Soldiers Shaved.

Beards were worn universally by the Greeks until Alexander the Great ordered his soldiers to remove them so that the enemy might not grasp them in a fight.

You Bet!

Success in business depends on infinite attention to detail; and it also depends on selecting a location where there isn't too much of that kind of business.

Bronze.

Bronze, the only tool-metal known to our ancestors of 8,000 years ago, was invented independently in the Near East and by the Peruvian Indians.

Mince Pie for Yule in 1596.

Mince pies were popular at Christmas time as early as 1596 under the name of "mutton pies." Later "neat's-tongues" were substituted for the mutton.

Pocket Gophers.

Pocket gophers living near Los Angeles, show no appreciable differences from the fossil gophers which lived in California 200,000 years ago.

HEADS LOOK AT A BRIDGE

The counuty commissioners yesterday afternoon made an inspection of the Eighty-Four bridge, on the Washington-Monongahela road, which went down Saturday morning under the weight of a roller. This accident completely cuts off through traffic over this important highway. The bridge is located at a point where it is almost impossible to provide a detour except by a long way round by an unimproved country road. There is a railroad right of way across the Monongahela pike at that point, through which the highway extends by way of a concrete cut. This railroad dump which is near the bridge, makes a detour almost impossible.

About the only thing that can be done at present is to build a temporary bridge and prepare at once to have a proposed new bridge approved by the August grand jury. There is a question as to the right of the county to erect a temporary bridge without the grand jury's approval. However, some solution will have to be reached at once, as the creek closes one of the most important highways of the county. The Monongahela Washington buses are transferring passengers at that point.

The Ultramicroscope

There is an instrument called the ultramicroscope which makes visible bodies which are much smaller than can be seen with the microscope. It does this not by magnification, but by very bright illumination. The bodies are seen only as bright specks. It is claimed that some of the largest molecules can be seen separately by this method. These molecules contain a large number of atoms, a hundred or so. From the motions of these ultramicroscope particles their masses can be estimated.

Way of a Woman

Femininity has its own way of posting a simple, everyday letter according to one keen observer. For instance, out of 30 women who were watched at a street letter box in the residential section of a large city, 21 withdrew the letter before quite letting go of it, to scan both sides of the envelope, to be certain the letter was securely sealed, properly addressed, stamped, and to make sure nobody could look through the envelope to read the contents.

Bridget's Clever Comeback.

Housewife (irritated)—"I don't know, Bridget, whether it's you or me who's crazy." Bridget—"I think we're both crazy, Mrs. Buzzaw; surely you wouldn't be in your right mind if you wint an' hired a foolish cook."

When Babies Are Happy.

When Father has charge of the baby, it is happy, even though its face does get dirtier and dirtier.

Not So Good.

A man takes credit to himself overcoming a mild attack of anger, but how does he handle the big ones?

An Argument.

When she says, "Well, I know it is," and he says, "Well, I know it ain't," they call that an "argument."
